PARIS, Oct. 3.—The allied left continues to encounter most desperate resistance from the re-inforced German right, which is utilizing every available man to prevent the turning movement being satisfactorily completed. The result has been a check on the northwest of the battle line. The result will be, it is explained by the military experts, that the German withdrawal may be delayed somewhat. At no point, however, the official statements declare, have the Germans penetrated the French line, although they made several desperate assaults at various points along the front during last night, and were continuing their efforts today.

Augment Allies

Their allies, however, are constantly being augmented as it is realized that the present desperate series of assaults are final efforts of the German general staff to transform defeat into victory. They are sacrificing so many men, it is asserted here, that the very force of their offensive cannot much longer be maintained. Most welcome was the news received today that the German army commanded by Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm has been repulsed with severe loss, while trying to slip through the forest of Gurie, in the Argonne region. In this check to the crack forces of Prussia is certain to have its effect on the morale of the Germans already discouraged by their failure to gain victory at any point of the battle line.

Try to Break Through

Desperate fighting was reported today from both the eastern and western line of the great battle of the north. The German right wing was again repulsed in an effort to break through the line between Reims and Laon, where heavy fighting has been in progress for several days. The Germans are also reported to have essayed another attempt to cross the Meuse near St. Mihiel and on being repulsed, to have resumed shelling the forts in that vicinity. It is reported here that the armies of Von Boehm, Von Kluck and Von Buelow have all been partly amalgamated and that they are now holding a series of lines facing north and south from near Ribecourt to Mons, in Belgium, and turning out toward Denai and Bapaume. Meanwhile the line of the Aisne, formerly held by Von Buelow, is reported occupied by the troops which were

Statement from Berlin

BERLIN, Via The Hague, Oct. 3.—"We are making constant progress on our right and are driving wedges into the French line," was the most striking phrase in the official war bulletin issued today. "The siege of Antwerp continues with our artillery breaking through the outlying chain of fortifications and gradually checking the fire of the individual units. On our left we are continuing our reduction of the last line of the French fortifications, the Meuse chain. Efforts of the allies to flank us both on the east and west of the battle line in France have been successfully frustrated. Our center holds firm and there has been no action of consequence other than a general exchange of shells by artillery at this point. The result of the battle now in progress is still undecided.

"In the eastern theater our forces continue to hold the offensive in Russian Poland and the Russians have been unable to gain any ground in Galicia, where the Austrian armies are holding their new entrenched line. Przemyśl still holds out."

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

ENGLAND—It is admitted that the battle of Cracow, just beginning, will have a most decisive effect in the war. The announcement by Sir John French that the Germans are plainly suffering from a scarcity of officers is accepted as proving that the severity of the German losses have not been exaggerated.

FRANCE—The Germans continue their desperate efforts to break through the allies' line on the left and isolate the northern force's wing but the war office officially declares that the movement has failed.

RUSSIA—The war office declares that the Germans have been decisively defeated and are in full retreat from Russian Poland and that the battle of Cracow, now beginning, may prove the decisive conflict of the war. It is declared that the German loss in killed, wounded and captured numbers 60,000.

BELGIUM—The bombardment of Antwerp continues, but every attempt of the Germans to gain a foothold in the outer ring of forts has been defeated with heavy loss, according to the war office.

ROMANIA—Russia has offered Roumania the Austrian crown lands of Bukovina and Transylvania as a reward if she participates in the war on the side of the allies. The crown council will decide whether the offer is to be accepted early next week. King Carol is expected to abdicate if the council decides to support Russia.

JAPAN—The bombardment of Kiao Chau by the combined Anglo-Japanese land and sea forces continues with violence. Another Japanese mine sweeper has been sunk with a loss of four killed.

GERMANY—It is officially stated that the French attempt to outflank the German right has decisively failed and that the Germans are now driving the allies back at several points of the north and south battle line between Noyon and the Belgian frontier. The Russian claims of a disaster to the Germans in Poland are flatly contradicted and it is stated that the Germans are everywhere successful.

Says Organizer

La Crosse is to have a Farmers' Co-operative market, organized along the lines of the Farmers' Co-operative Packing company. The company for conducting the market will be organized within two weeks, and the market may be in operation within sixty days.

Organizers Here
This was the announcement made this morning by F. A. S. Price, and A. C. Godfrey, members of the national organization committee of the American Society of Equity, who have been laying foundations for the organization of the market scheme for several days.

The proposed market is a Society of Equity enterprise, Mr. Price said today. It is proposed to interest in it farmers belonging to the society principally. It is expected that many of those holding stock in the Farmers' Co-operative Packing company would become interested in the proposed market.

No Details Yet
Regarding details, Mr. Price said there was little to say.

"We have not yet discussed details," he said. "Until after our organization meeting, which will be held October 15, there is little we can tell you. But the need for the market here is apparent. The farmers have decided not to wait for the merchants to act. The latter have been discussing the proposition for a long time, but as yet have done nothing.

"Our company will be formed within two weeks. In sixty days, I believe the market will be in operation."

Not Untried Plan
The co-operative market plan is not new, Mr. Price declared. Several other cities have farmer-owned markets for the sale of produce direct to the consumer, he said.

As one, pastors and congregations of the churches of La Crosse tomorrow will offer up fervent prayers to God for universal peace, and for a stop of the war in Europe which is slaughtering hundreds each day.

This will be done in compliance with the wishes of President Woodrow Wilson who made a proclamation to the Christian people of the land that they offer prayers tomorrow for this cause.

A great majority of the pastors of the Protestant churches of La Crosse will devote their entire morning service to sermons on war, and prayers and song for a discontinuance of it.

Rev. John H. Klaus, pastor of the First German Methodist church will speak on "Universal Peace," and the offering of the congregation will be added to a fund which is being sent to Europe to aid sufferers.

La Crosse Knights of Pythias will unite with the congregation of St. Paul's Universalist church tomorrow morning when prayers will be offered.

Rev. T. Stanley Oadams, pastor of the First Methodist church will conduct special peace services in the morning. Rev. W. Everett Johnson, pastor of Christ Church will likewise conduct services asking the Almighty for Peace.

Rev. J. W. Peacock, Mt. Carroll, Ill., occupying the pulpit of the First Baptist church tomorrow morning will pray for peace.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—The outcome of the European war will depend to a great extent on the great battle now beginning in the near east. This battle, already referred to as the battle of Cracow, will find the acid test applied to the Russian army. It will demonstrate whether Russia is the active, potent fighting force that her admirers assert, or whether she is to be more hindrance than help in the attempt to crush Germany. It is a new and untried Russian army that is in the field. The forces far out-

Battle Line Extends from

land South of Vistula

PETROGRAD, Oct. 3.—In a review of the recent operations in Russian Poland issued by the war office today, it is stated that at every point the Germans have been forced to retreat.

The war office estimates that the total losses to the Germans in these operations which have extended over the last fortnight will reach 60,000 in killed, wounded and prisoners. In addition it is stated that the Russians have captured a number of German guns and rapid fire mounted on motors.

Million Reserves More Forward

The war office declares that with the Germans in full retreat from the vicinity of the Niemen and from Suwalki province, and with the Austrians retreating in Galicia, the original first plan of the Russian general staff has been successfully carried out. The plan provided that the Russian right wing was to crush the Germans, the left wing to crush the Austrians and that then all were to be combined to compel the Germans to accept battle southwest of the Polish frontier and at a point nearest to Berlin. As a consequence the million Russian troops that have been held in reserve in the mobilization center at Warsaw have begun their advance. They have already forced the Germans to withdraw from the vicinity of Lodz and Kalish and are now driving the entire German line toward the Cracow battle line.

The highest military authorities declare that a Russian victory in the battle, now beginning, will force Germany to seek peace terms.

Cracow Battle Starting

The battle of Cracow is still in the initial stages. The Russian outposts have engaged the Austrian-German line along the Donajeo river, just west of Tarnow, which forms a natural barrier, flowing almost directly north and south 34 miles east of Cracow. The battle line extends to the foothills of the Carpathian mountains and flows over in Russian Poland north of the Vistula river,

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Former European Manager of the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—11 a. m.—Further necessity for strengthening the German western battle front has undoubtedly caused another distribution of the invaders' forces. Von Kluck's original command is doubtless now the strongest part of the entire German line, entailing corresponding weakness elsewhere.

The new western reinforcements have come from the German center and from the left. Only an exchange of artillery fire has been proceeding at the center for a number of days, while on the German left the desperate attempts to break through the Meuse frontier defensive line have weakened. The reason in both cases is the urgent necessity for bolstering up the western battle line.

The length of this line, from its southern extremity between the Aisne and Oise rivers to the Belgian frontier, is seventy-five miles. Properly to defend heavily entrenched positions and to attempt offensive diversions, as Von Kluck has been doing, requires about 10,000 per mile. The German western front, therefore, comprises 750,000 men, according to standard methods of estimating. The number may, in fact, be nearer a million, depending on the strength the allies have been able to muster for their advance toward Belgium.

An opportunity for breaking through the German weakened center undoubtedly now exists, but to take advantage of it seems to be beyond the possibility of modern warfare. If the allies could detach secretly a considerable part of their western army and launch it against the German center, an overwhelming disaster to the Germans would result. Such a display of strategic genius, of the kind that won many victories for Napoleon, would earn for General Joffre the marshal's baton, just revived by the French government.

The difficulties in the way are the superiority of the German espionage system, and the persistent use by the Germans, of local offensive tactics. The local offensive is admirably effective in preventing just such a coup as has been outlined above. If the allies were to weaken their western front, in order to concentrate against the center, one of Von Kluck's persistent counterattacks might break through the allied lines and the complexion of the French campaign might change in the twinkling of an eye.

Only an immediate success, with the element of surprise playing a large part, would overcome the risks. These risks are so perilous that they are not likely to be taken. Instead, the dangerous opportunity at the center for overwhelming the Germans by a lightninglike stroke, while undoubtedly under consideration at the allies' headquarters, probably will be declined. The slower ordeal of wearing down the resistance of the German western line, is much safer.

September Was The Biggest Month In The History Of The Studebaker Corporation

In point of sales, in number of Studebakers actually sold and delivered, not only was last month the biggest September, but the biggest individual month in all the sixty-two years of Studebaker business. Isn't it remarkable that this should be true just at this time!

Does this unprecedented Studebaker Prosperity not reflect at least normal business conditions for the whole American people?

We believe, too, that the widely spread volume of Studebaker Sales in September demonstrates that American prosperity is general.

Studebaker dealers everywhere broke records in September. Every state, county, city and village in the country showed tremendous Studebaker gains.

That means that the economic conditions of this country are universally and intrinsically sound.

This means more than isolated optimism. It means national soundness and national confidence.

Actual September Studebaker Sales.

Analyze those figures. You realize that they are proof, not merely of the national popularity of a long established house and its standard product, but of the unfaltering courage and untroubled outlook of the American people.

Also those astonishing figures prove more than the overwhelming popularity of the Studebaker line, the new Studebaker "FOURS" and Studebaker "SIXES," and the distinctive Studebaker manufacturing methods and ideals and integrity.

Those astonishing figures attest the national appreciation of what has gone before in the sixty-two years of Studebaker history.

That is Studebaker Service.

The Studebaker Corporation does not merely sell a motor. It sells motoring.

A Studebaker purchaser buys not merely a Studebaker car—but he also buys Studebaker Factory Service.

The Studebaker Corporation is represented not merely by salesmen, but by Servicemen.

The Studebaker Corporation keeps Studebaker cars running for Studebaker owners.

Every city and village in the country is a Studebaker service-station.

Studebaker Branches, Studebaker representatives everywhere, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to the Rio Grande, are equipped, are instructed, are pledged to give Studebaker Service.

For such service the Studebaker Corporation has more than $1,000,000 worth of Studebaker parts distributed among Studebaker representatives.

That means immediate, economical, personal service to Studebaker owners—everywhere.

This one achievement of organization has entered, we believe, largely into the achievement of Studebaker Sales. Studebaker owners everywhere are selling Studebakers for us.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

A FUTURIST

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS.

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Such a blotch! And to think I've got to wear it! Else stay at home," Jess mourned, looking at herself in the spotty mirror.

It aggravated to a degree the wryness and general misfit of the pink mouseline she had on, but she knew its vagaries of reflection well enough to discount them, so understood fairly the result of inexperience and patterns.

"If there have to be poor folks," she ran on, "I don't see why they aren't made all humpedbacked or one-eyed, or with crooked noses, and pumpkin complexions! Then they wouldn't care what they wore—a gunny sack with holes would do them as well as a court dress. I—love clothes. I could wear them, too—if only I had them. And I hoped so much—oh, it's too—too—bad," breaking down there and pinching her face in her hands.

Tears forced themselves between her slim, tanned fingers. At sight of them, Lu, her sharp young sister, said acidly: "It does look bad enough—but cry-spots all down the front won't help it. Shut up! Maybe folks will be so busy lookin' at your face, your frock won't matter."

"I am not going—at least, I think—not," Jess said, with a long, quivering sigh.

Lu stamped her foot. "You are going," she said, imperatively. "This is the last chance I'll have to wear your graduation dress—the only decent thing in the family. In another month it'll be clean outgrown, unless I take to starvin' myself—which I won't, not even to wear clothes."

"How does it look?" Jess asked, glancing down at herself. "I can't tell in the glass."

"Oh, it bags and it sags! It hikes up, and hikes down—most as bad as the fashions in the newspapers," Lu said judicially. Suddenly she clapped both her hands over her mouth to stifle an explosive laugh.

It was not safe to laugh out loud, unless Aunt Sarah was safe at the sewing circle. The light mindedness of her husband's niece was a sore and continuing trial to that elect lady. Lu finished her laugh in the depths of her handkerchief.

Then said more consolingly than common: "Get busy, Jess—and sew up all that's left to do. I'm going to help you—not with the sewin'—but in better ways. And don't, for goodness sake, say you won't go to the Elwood party. Because you will and be mighty glad of it."

With that she ran away—out of the house, across the back lot, and onto the far hillside, where she knew Bently was sketching. He came from the city—she had made friends with him vagrantly—had given him buttermilk from the springhouse, and now and then surreptitious lunches of brown bread, butter and fresh fruit. He was tall and thin, with kind eyes and a whimsical smile, also he coughed the least bit now and then, and held aloof from village affairs in general. His home was in the cabin up on the ledge—it had been tenanted three summers of the four since it was built. Talk with him in random snatches had convinced Lu he knew the world and pretty much everything. She was sure of his help even before he nodded emphatically at the end of her story, over which he laughed heartily as it went on.

"I'll be there without fail," he said again, nodding. Great scheme! Young person it strikes me you're wasted on this plow country. When Jess and Timber-toes make a match of it—"

"What makes you call Johnny Edwards Timber-toes?" He hasn't got any wooden legs!" Lu broke in eagerly.

Bently nodded a third time, saying "Sure he hasn't; but you see his pedestal is wooded—the lumber mill that make so much money every day they have to sit up nights counting it."

"And he isn't going to marry Jess, I'm afraid not," Lu confessed honestly. "You see, Milly Ricks has been off to boarding school—and they give her everything—"

"Fate gave Jess more," Bently said, with a little half-sigh. "Be easy fellow conspirator. We are going to pull all the kinks fashion and style may knot up, out of this true love course."

Which was esoteric—to say the least. But Lu ran home radiant—and even forgot satisfaction in her own superlative appearance in her concern for Jess. The pink mouseline was a horror, but then Jess was beautiful enough to carry it off. She had sloe-black eyes, a rose-leaf skin, wheat-yellow hair and motion as graceful as wind in the wheat.

Aunt Sarah herself didn't hold with parties, but as a means to the end of marrying off two portionless girls she was quite willing to let her nieces go in care of Mrs. Ricks.

Thus the contrast between poor pretty Jess and Milly, who had everything, was made more than ever acute. Jess all but shrunk under consciousness of it as they entered the parlor together. Milly was in white—vaporous and clinging, with roses round the low neck and a duck of a girdle, caught with bigger roses. Even Johnny Elwood upon his mother's left was conscious of the difference in them. It was so palpable other folks nudged meaningfully—they stared when a tall distinguished-looking man, who had rather held aloof, came suddenly forward, caught both Jess's hands and said in a well-bred carrying voice: "My dear Miss Wilton, you are as wicked as you are beautiful. Are you willing to do penance for giving me so great shock?"

"How?" Jess asked bewildered. Lu at her elbow was almost dancing with excitement.

Bently sighed deeply, saying, "I came here for the simple life—to escape Paris—and all its works. Now, you shatter my paradise in a week. I shall see your imitators on every hand. So the penance I shall set you is—to sit to me for your portrait—just as you are. Not a fold to be changed. Think what an exhibition picture it will make! I'll call it the 'Futurist.' Just what you are. I didn't dream those advance styles had been sent over—but since you have got one at least—"

He stopped there as though suddenly conscious how folks were hanging upon his words. Jess was too bewildered to do more than murmur assent. Lu, in a seventh heaven, saw Mrs. Elwood looking her sister up and down, then glanced sideways at the most favored Milly. She saw her also say something in her son's ear—a little later he wrote his name in four places with supper extra upon Jess's card. After that Milly had little chance—she danced like a cow, whereas Jess was an animated thistle down.

From this immediate concern Lu turned her attention to the crowd. It was awe-stricken by Bently's verdict, and was wondering how on earth Jess Wilton had managed to outdo and outshine all the rest. Lu herself did not lack for partners—she was tall enough to be grown up if not old enough. Thus presently she found herself taking a turn with Bently, who stopped after a little, saying huskily, "pity to stop—but I'm all in."

When they were outside on the little side porch he looked down at her glowing face, her shining eyes, and smiled sadly. "You are the most enviable person here," he said. "And you deserve to be because—you've helped so. Me most of all. I never dreamed I should have a chance to do a clean good deed—tell me how you thought of it?"

"Like a flash, when Jess was cryin' because the frock looked such a mess," Lu answered not quite steadily—young as she was she had caught the implication of doom in Bently's short breath. "I told her it was as bad looking as the newspaper fashions—and then she said, 'I'm glad,' Bently said, looking back into the dancing floor. 'It is all right in there now—if I can judge from faces. But I'm really going to paint that picture if I can get in the background those other faces properly. It may make me famous before I die.'"

GOOD ROADS EDUCATION

Owing to the muddy roads, the returns from the voting precinct of Mud, in a special fifteen cent road tax election in Travis county, Texas, did not reach the county seat until nearly three weeks after the votes were polled. Naturally, you would wonder if there could be a single voter in Mud who would not vote for better roads. But Mud people are exceptional when it comes to levying taxes to build highways. Every voter in Mud but one expressed his satisfaction with muddy roads by voting the proposition down. —Harper's Weekly.

Good roads come with education as to their value. The farmer has been slow to realize that value. The task is the more difficult because he learns slowly excepting by practical demonstration and he dislikes to pay the cost of such demonstration.

It was for this reason that the Wisconsin law was so drawn that all counties must contribute through taxation to a fund to secure its just pro rata of which each county and town must make an additional pro rata contribution. In order to save what they had paid in taxes, towns and counties were spurred to action, and as a result of this thrift the good roads movement overran itself.

But the desired result was approached, if not reached. A general inquiry made by Governor McGovern when the special session was under consideration, resulted in reports from town meetings throughout the state showing that a substantial majority of the towns were opposed to dropping the good roads movement. Indeed, so strong was the showing that many legislators are of the opinion that education has so far done its work that the law may now be safely amended to exclude the penalization of towns and counties failing to take the initiative in raising funds for their roads.

At least, there are now few "Mud Towns" in Wisconsin.

THE PRIMARY SOUND BUT WE MUST LEARN

Robert M. La Follette, a man to whom the country owes many a debt, taught and believed that the direct primary was death to "the machine." He held that with the primary ballot in every voter's hand, organization counted for little or nothing, and the "will of the people" for everything. It is a comfortable theory, but it will have to go to the discard with many others. The primary may be necessary and wise, probably is so, but it does not automatically "beat the machine," nor make political organizations useless. On the contrary, its present tendency is to complicate politics, and whatever does help the professional politician and the boss. Perpetual motion is as much of a dream in statecraft as in physics. Neither the direct primary nor any other device will save the public from political exploitation, unless the masses take a lively and intelligent interest in politics. —Chicago Journal.

Be not over skeptical. Elections are subject to educational influences. The trouble was not so much with the Wisconsin primary law as with the votes. The primary calls out a far greater percentage of voters than did the old caucus system, and gives the people a better chance against the bosses. But the service it will render is in proportion to the extent to which it is used.

The voters make one sad mistake. They neglect the primary, but turn out heavily at the election. They will not come into their own until they realize that to neglect the primary is to surrender the election.

Of what use is the ballot to a man who by his own laches permits the nomination of candidates for whom he can not in good conscience vote in the election?

Indeed, the nomination of the right men is the MORE IMPORTANT duty, for if all parties nominate the right men, good men will be elected even though the vote in the general election is light.

The second choice would do much to obviate the danger resulting from the tendency of the majority faction to a multiplicity of candidates. This, too, is a matter of education in which we still are in the elementary class.

WE LIVE OUR ACHIEVEMENTS

A writer in a current magazine devoted to art, says:

There is no greater delight or passionate love on earth for the artist than this: to feel that he has stamped his hand on a people and on a millennium, to feel that his eyes, his ears and his touch have become their eyes, and their ears, and their touch. There is no deeper enjoyment than this for him; to feel that as he sees, hears and feels, they also will be compelled to see, hear and feel. Only thus is he able to prevail. A people becomes his offspring.

The artist, then, as the highest manifestation of any human community, justifies his existence merely by living his life, and by imparting some of his magnificence to the things about him.

The idea here conveyed is not confined to the artist, although he typifies it. The artist can not express what he does not live and feel. But an inward feeling, lived into the consciousness of the individual, inspires every achievement, good or bad, be it in art, or in business or politics or any other phase of human activity.

In this fact lies the value of education, of culture. Civilization builds upon civilization. What is born and trained into the child comes out in the man's work. We must live what we produce—none else is genuine, all else is superficial, insincere, spurious.

That Settled It
Mrs. Charles H. Anthony of Muncie, whose beautiful wardrobe, designed by herself, impressed Paris before the outbreak of the war, said to a New York reporter the other day:

"Now is the time to introduce modest, home made fashions for the fall and winter. The European fashion market is idle now. Let the American designer, then, get to work. American women will welcome modest fashions, for few of them are as perverse as the American woman I heard about in Paris."

A friend said at a ball to this woman's husband:
"How the men are flocking round your wife. I thought you said you'd never let her wear one of those shocking evening gowns without shoulder straps?"
"I know," the other answered, "but she happened to hear me say it."

Told the Truth
We have been told the story of a professional magician who had recently been making one night stands in little Ohio towns. The other night he was in Mount Gilead and he certainly made a great hit there. He had been performing for more than an hour and his audience was in good humor. The audience, in fact, was for him to a man when he pulled a big loaf of the town to the stage. A big laugh followed.

The magician brought the loaf to the footlights.
"Now, my boy," he said, "I want you to tell this audience that you are sure your pockets are empty."
"My pockets is empty," answered the lad, obediently. "De rabbit you told me to put in me coat got away."

Keep Smiling
Keep smiling, 'tis better than building a fame as a kicker or fretter who's sore on the game. There's no sense in winning that sort of renown; far better so grinning all day long, as gaily you chase, display a glad cavern dividing your face; all day, as you teeter from courthouse to jail, smile sweeter and sweeter.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

and utter no wall; and as you're ascending your wearisome stair, your smile should be lending its warmth to the air. Your troubles are frightful? Well, wearing a frown won't make them delightful or batter them down. Old Trouble keeps piling its thorns on my head, but still I keep smiling and will till I'm dead; when I'm in my casket, all finished my trips, I'll smile like a basket of hickory chips. Keep smiling, 'tis wiser, through all the long year, than being a miser with chirrups and cheer. Why is the world dingy and dismal and gray? Because we are stingy with messages gay. We groan and we grumble, we whine and we wheeze, and don't take a tumble to the facts such as these. It's every man's duty to chortle and grin and thus fill with beauty the world we are in.

WALT MASON.

A Cause for Doubt

James A. Patten, the noted wheat operator, said to a reporter in New York:

"Edward Bok and other dress psychologists declare that this war is going to transfer the fountainhead of women's fashions from France to the United States. Well, on the Finland, on the way back home from the war zone, I noticed a thing or two that made me have my doubts."

"For example, I was describing to a group of ladies on the promenade deck one afternoon the way the Belgians had ruined a road into Liege—a road that blew up afterward and killed 5,000 Germans. The ladies all seemed interested in my description, and when I finished it I said: "And now are there any questions any of you ladies would like to ask?"

"A very pretty and well-dressed Baltimore lady said anxiously: "Can you tell us, Mr. Patten, if Paris had got her fall fashions out before the war came on?"

A commonplace occurrence in an omnibus in the vicinity of Whitehall: The bus has stopped and every seat is full, when suddenly a young lady enters. Just at the same moment an old gentleman, sitting at the other end, got up from his seat.

"No, no, really I couldn't think," said the blushing maiden.

"But, madam," interrupted the old gentleman.

"Not on any account; I should feel so terribly selfish and—" expostulated the damsel, as she waved the courteous passenger back to his seat. "I must really insist on—" continued the old gentleman, rapidly growing purple in the face.

"I don't really mind a bit, and in fact I—" said the beauty, with the sweetest of smiles.

"Can't you see, madam, that—" said the old gentleman irascibly.

"It's very charming of you, but really I can just as well stand," the young lady said firmly, as she proceeded to "straphang."

"You are at perfect liberty to do just as you like about that, miss," said the old gentleman, advancing toward the door, "but I want to get out."—London Tit-Bits.

"So that's my news, that I'm dissatisfied with the big world. It isn't like I'd have made it, that's the truth! Now I'll lay this letter aside to cool (I mean it, and me, too) and I'll not send it until something about Red Kimball happens, so you'll be posted on what really matters. After all, the people that marry for money aren't important, they don't belong to big affairs—but there's something worth discussing in a plot to commit murder. That means something, as Brick would say, it's 'vital.' These people about me, kind, gentle, correct—all their waking thoughts are devoted to little things—fashionable trifles that last no longer than the hour in which they're born—just time-killers. I enjoy these pleasing trifles, but my eyes are opened and I know they are trifles. These people's eyes are not opened. Why? Because they haven't lived in the West, neighboring with real things like alkali plains and sand-storms and granite mountains."

"My, it would open their eyes if one of their dearest friends was in danger of getting himself hanged! Something permanent in that!"

"LATER: This is midnight. I expect to leave as soon as I possibly can, but probably this letter will get away first, so here's something new to put your mind on; it's rather dreadful, but you give it a calm thought. But my thoughts are not calm. Far from that. Oh, how excited I was. But I guess they did not know it. It all happened about an hour ago, and you can see that my hand is still a little shaky."

"There was a bright moonlight, but you needn't be afraid I'm going to talk about that; this isn't any tale about moons. I was sitting at my window because I couldn't sleep, not that I expected to see anything unusual. There's a big summer-house at the far end of the lawn, all covered with vines, and there's a walk between dense shrubbery, leading to it from the house. I guess that's why I didn't see anybody go to that summer house. The first thing I did see was Red Kimball come out and slip through a little side gate, and hurry along the country road. As soon as I saw him, I guessed that he and Mr. Gledware had been conspiring in the summer-house. What a chance I had missed to act the good scout."

"But it seemed no use to go down, after Red Kimball had left. If Mr. Gledware was still in the summer-house, I knew he was alone; and if he'd returned to the house, all was over for the night. I was wondering what new plot they had formed, and how I was to find out about it, when my eye was caught by a movement in the hedge that runs down to the side gate. The movement was as slight as possible, but as there wasn't any breeze, it made me shiver a little, for I knew somebody was skulking there. I watched, and pretty soon something passed through the gate, light and quick and stealthy, like the shadow of a cloud. Only, there wasn't any cloud; and in the flash of moonlight I saw it was our old friend—Red Feather."

"Almost as soon as I recognized him, he had disappeared behind a large lilac bush; but I had seen what he held in the hand behind his back—it was a long unsheathed knife. The lilac-bush stood close to the summer house. He fell flat to the ground, and though I couldn't see him, after that I knew he was wriggling his way around the bush. You would have been ashamed of me for a minute or two, for I kept sitting beside the window, as if I had been turned to a statue of ice. I felt just that cold too!"

"But maybe I didn't stay there as long as it seemed. First thing I knew I was running downstairs as lightly and swiftly as I could, and out through the door at the end of the side hall that had been left open—and I was at the summer house door like a flash. There was a wide path of moonlight across the concrete floor and right in front was a sight never to be forgotten—Red Feather about to stab Mr. Gledware to the heart! He held Mr. Gledware by the throat with one hand and his other hand held the knife up for the blow. Mr. Gledware lay on his back, and Red Feather had one knee pressed upon his breast. In the

"IN PANAMA"
One of the biggest scenic productions ever attempted by any stock company will be presented by the Olie Eaton Players at the La Crosse Theater the first half of next week. The name of the offering is "In Panama," and as the name suggests, the principal action is laid in the canal zone. Mr. King, the scenic artist, has prepared the most elaborate scenery for this play, one act showing the Panama Canal.

The story, while a dramatic one, contains a lot of wholesome humor. The action is consistent, and the capable people who comprise the company will be seen at their best. Miss Eaton is determined to give the patrons of the La Crosse Theater the very best plays at popular prices, and "In Panama" is one that will please everyone who sees it.

Tonight this popular company will give their last performance of "The Whole Damm Family" a rollicking farce that is pleasing everyone who has attended the La Crosse Theater for the last two days.

"THE ELOPERS"
Frederick Herendeen, a recent graduate of the University of Chicago, has decided to adopt the profession of lyricist. Although but 21 years old, young Herendeen has already achieved marked success in the rhyming of the music in "The Elopers" which comes to the La Crosse Theater, October 6. Herendeen has contributed a number of clever and fetching rhymes to Hugo Frey's delightful music.

On a recent visit to New York, Herendeen met J. J. Shubert, head of the big amusement company. After hearing "The Elopers" music this theatrical magnate immediately began negotiations with Herendeen and Frey to write some of the music for the next Winter Garden attraction.

Young Herendeen is a son of the president of the Charles Herendeen Milling company, who controls vast interests in the United States and Canada.

Herendeen is at present writing lyrics for a new company in Chicago which will produce, early in November, "Chicago's Annual Revue of 1914."

CZAR OFFERS ROUMANIA AUSTRIANS PROVINCES TO JOIN WITH ALLIES

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Oct. 3.—It was announced officially today that Russia has offered Roumania the Austrian provinces of Bukowina and Transylvania as her reward for participation in the present war on the side of the allies. The condition is that the entire Roumanian army be thrown into action immediately and that the Roumanians themselves conquer Transylvania, Bukowina having already been partly occupied by the Russians.

If Roumania participates she will have the assistance of the Russian general staff. The question will be decided at a meeting of the crown council early next week.

The sentiment for participation in the war on the side of Russia is almost universal. As a result King Karol who is a Hohenzollern and sympathizer with Germany, has been overcome with serious illness and is now confined to his bed in the summer palace at Sinaja. It is believed that the king will abdicate if the crown council decides to accept the Russian proposal.

AUSTIN DEPOT ROBBED FRIDAY

One Hundred and Fifty Dollars in Cash Taken by Bold Burglars

The passenger station of the Milwaukee road at Austin, Minn., was broken into early this morning and more than one hundred and fifty dollars in cash taken. The robber or robbers have not yet been found.

The robbery occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning during the absence of the agent from the station. The robber entered through a window and rifled the cash drawer after opening it with a bar.

Three suspects were taken from a car of potatoes in train No. 62 on the Southern Minnesota division at Rushford and immediately taken to Austin, where they are being held. Austin authorities telephoned the La Crosse police to watch all incoming trains.

$1.50 BEER TAX ON BEER TO STAY

Local brewers have received word that the committee on finance, which is considering the war tax bill yesterday agreed tentatively on several important items. The tax on beer will be left at $1.50 a barrel, as in the house bill. Sweet wines will be taxed 20 cents a gallon and dry wines 8 instead of 12 cents a gallon, the tax to be collected from the seller instead of from the source.

The tax on gasoline will be reduced to 1 cent per gallon, but it will be supplemented by a tax of 50 cents per horsepower on passenger automobile sales. Where the manufacturer has outstanding contracts fixing the price of the machines, the tax will be collected from the jobber.

A sub-committee reported favorably on the elimination of the bank tax, and the substitution of a tax of 2 cents on bank checks and drafts and a tax of 2 cents per $100 or fraction thereof on deposit slips.

Report of the City Mission Shows that Thousands Have Been Sheltered in La Crosse

TO ABANDON ANNUAL MEETING

Director D. C. Dewey Will Occupy Pulpits in Eight Churches This Year; Report Completed

Hundreds of homeless men have been sheltered, fed and given employment during the past year, shows the report of the La Crosse Rescue mission closing its fiscal year this week. Superintendent D. C. Dewey's report to the mission board shows that nearly 10,000 attended the evening meetings at the mission, with over 1,300 lodgings furnished during that time.

Superintendent Dewey's report is as follows: Lodgings furnished, 648; worked for lodgings, 698; given baths, 646; attendance at meetings, 9,344; meals given, 2,144; men furnished with employment outside the mission, 378; number of pieces of clothing given away, 613.

To Occupy Pulpits
Tomorrow morning Superintendent Dewey will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church. He will tell the congregation of the work done by the mission during the year. Several converts of the mission will tell the story of their uplift by the mission and the good which it did them.

Superintendent Dewey will occupy the pulpits of eight different churches in La Crosse, taking one each Sunday. It is his aim to bring to the work of the mission closer to the church than it has been in the past. It is his aim to closer acquaint them with the meetings held each night in the year.

"Downtown Church"
It is the desire of the mission board, that the mission be known as the "downtown church" as it is the only religious institution in La Crosse which is open every night.

Superintendent Dewey will not hold his annual meeting, as has been the custom in years past, but will divide between the different churches.

"Upon this farm I am going to tell you about there was an air one late August morning of unusual activity."

"The cock began it. He crowed and crowed and crowed as the sun came up over the eastern hills and tinged the world with rose color."

"Get up, get up, get up!" crowed the cock, and then all the animals on the farm began to stir. The horses neighed and whinnied, the cows moored and bellowed, the sheep and lambs bleated, the dogs barked, the cats mewed, the pigs grunted and squealed, the ducks quacked, the chickens cackled, the goats blatted and the turkeys gobbled. Such a time as all those animals had and such a noise as they made welcoming the return of day."

"Then the cock passed around among them and told them to meet together at 9 o'clock in the barnyard, as he had something to say to them."

"Promptly at 9 o'clock they all assembled—the horses, the cows, the pigs, the chickens, the dogs, the cats, the goats, the sheep, the ducks and the turkeys—all with shining morning faces and with their clothing spick and span. Then the cock flew up on a convenient fence, made a low bow and began his speech."

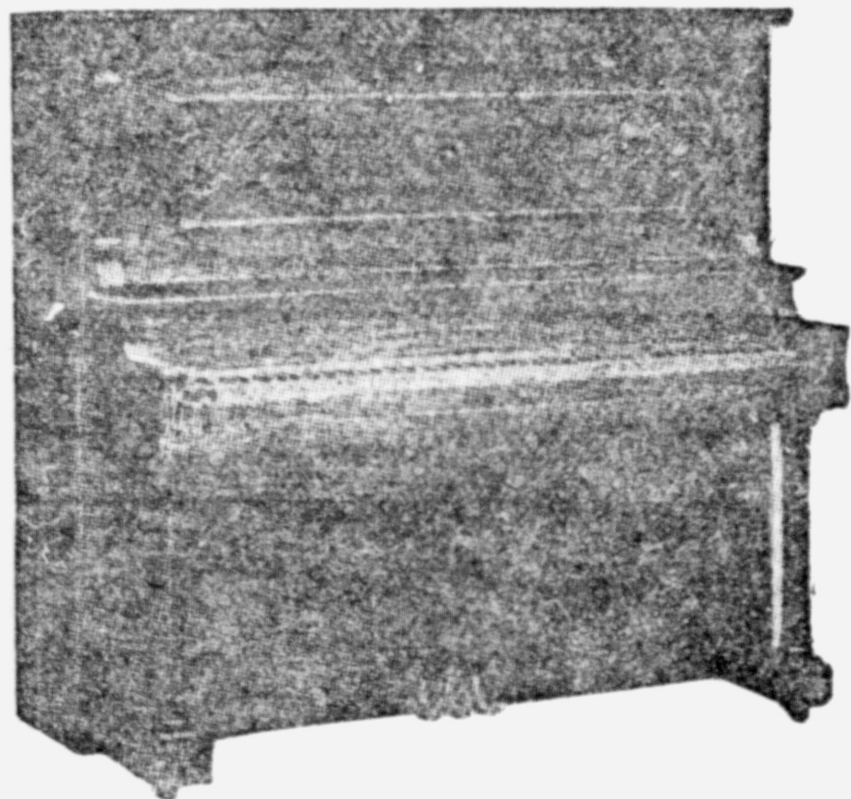

"Friends and fellow workers," he began with a great flourish, "as you have doubtless heard, there is to be a great parade of our fellow workers on Saturday next. I move that upon that day the horses stop drawing loads, the cows give no milk, the pigs stop growing their bristles for brushes, the hens lay no eggs, the goats give no milk, the dogs cease to watch, the cats to stop mousing, the ducks stop growing feathers for feather beds and the sheep cease growing wool for clothing and that we all go for a jollification over in the big meadow. What do you think of my plan?"

"And then such an uproar as there was. Of course they all assented to the plan. In the midst of the din came irate Farmer Gray and scattered them all about their business. But they went willingly enough because they would have their holiday to anticipate."

"Daddy, what was the rooster going to stop doing on the holiday?" asked Jack.

"I think the rooster, like every other thinker of great plans, worked that day just the same as any other day, for, you see, he would be obliged to waken the other animals by crowing on their holiday morning."

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK
Try Grandmother's old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy", you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

Can You Keep a Secret?
"Can you keep a secret?" is a very common question, usually put by a person who doesn't want to. Now you will reflect that a man going about his own business with several other people's secrets in his brain pockets is pretty certain to pull one of them out inadvertently. For, of course, other people's secrets are of no great importance. So when the question comes, "Can you keep a secret?" the answer should be: "No! Can you?"

Many Sought Position.
The French poor law department recently advertised for ten inspectors to call at Paris theaters and check the receipts so as to make sure that the taxes due to the department were correctly calculated. The number of applications for these posts was 7,126.

"Nobby Tread" Tires Are Used Where a Blowout May Mean the Loss of Many Lives

The illustration shows the "Nobby Tread" equipped chemical wagon of the Sioux City Fire Department.

This piece of fire apparatus travels with great speed, and often its crew extinguish fires before they become a menace to human life.

A puncture or blowout might, at any time, mean that a fire would gain headway and possibly cause many deaths. For this reason "Nobby Tread" tires have been selected as the tires that will give lowest cost per mile and insurance against delays caused by punctures or blowouts.

PRISONER'S LETTER TELL HUGE LOSSES OF GERMAN FORCES

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Emphasizing the enormous losses of the German armies in France, especially among the officers, which was dealt with in General French's detailed report, made public last night, the official bureau today made public the copy of a letter written by a German prisoner to his wife:

"My company started into action with 251 men," the letter says "but it is now reduced to 89 and there is not a single officer left. Some of the regiments have been reduced to two and three companies."

Another letter declares that for three days an entire division was without hot food, because the field kitchens had been lost. The writer says that finally in one of the houses along the road, they found large quantities of food stored. They were afraid to eat the food, because they believed it might have been poisoned. Finally, they forced the owner to eat some. As there were no bad effects, the troops ate for the first time in three days.

The writer's regiment went into action, will full ranks of 3,000 but it now numbers only 1600 men.

TWO REGISTRATIONS MAJESTIC TO GIVE NECESSARY -- HIGBEE BIG AUTOMOBILE

City Attorney Says Laws
Conflict but in His Opinion Meetings Must Be Held

City Attorney J. E. Higbee, in an opinion to City Clerk E. H. Hoffman today, declares that it is compulsory that two registrations days be held in the city of La Crosse before the November elections.

Mr. Higbee has previously given this as his construction of the election laws. Alderman P. W. Mahoney, however, claimed that the city attorney was in error and that no registration days were necessary.

Mr. Higbee, in his opinion to the clerk, quotes the statute extensively and bases his opinion chiefly on chapter 5 of the Wisconsin statutes which embrace sections 11-14 and sections 23-27 inclusive.

CHINESE OBJECT TO JAP SEIZURE

PEKIN, Oct. 3.—China refuses to accept Japanese contentions that Japan's occupation of Wei Hsein, in the Shan Tung province, was not a violation of China's neutrality. In a note couched in firm and dignified language, the Chinese government has notified Tokyo that the action is regarded as a hostile one. It is pointed out that if the railway in the province is occupied, such action will constitute another violation. To Japan's demand that the Chinese soldiers be instructed not to interfere with the Japanese operations at any point on the peninsula, no reply has been made.

There is a growing feeling of hostility against Japan throughout China as the result of these latest developments.

HOUN' DOG MEET TO START AT GALESVILLE

"It makes no difference if he is a houn',
They have got to quit kickin'
my dog around."

The "Missouri bound dog" will be brought into prominence next week at Galesville, when scores of hunters from all over Wisconsin will gather with high bred dogs for the recovery of $5,000 against the Tempealeau county "Hound dog convention." The hound meet will start Monday and last for four days.

Arctic Springs, just outside of Galesville, will be the general meeting place for the hunt which is scheduled for each day. Fox and coons are reported to be plentiful about the Galesville bluffs.

Starting a fox on the main street of Galesville, to be chased by hundreds of dogs will be the main event of the week.

Those who will attend from La Crosse are H. A. Straight with six hounds, George Childress with three and J. J. McKenzie with six.

Prizes will be awarded the best working dogs on the trail. An effort will be made by La Crosse representatives to bring the hunt to La Crosse in 1915.

FILE BIG CLAIMS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 3.—Papers filed before Judge Sanborn today by B. G. Dahlberg on behalf of 116 complainants against the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad. The suit involves over charges arising out of the Missouri state rate case of $450,000 and asks the court for an order that the claims may be presented against and allowed by the receivers. Judge Sanborn issued an order for the receivers to show cause why the petition should not be granted.

BENEZET TO GIVE TALKS ON CONFLICT

La Crosse high school students who will graduate before the first pages of the history of the present great European war have been published will not lack for study on the subject.

Superintendent L. P. Benezet will give the second of a series of talks to high school students on the war, as far as it has progressed. Benezet has closely studied the apparent causes of the war, and to this phrase of the study, more than the actual warfare itself, he is directing his talks.

High school students are extremely interested in the address, and are taking notes, and making studies on the matter themselves.

NO SET-BACK FOR PROGRESSIVISM

Congressman S. Anderson Says Outsiders Still Believe Wisconsin Is the Leader in Nation

WILSON STRONG WITH PEOPLE

Says Chief Fight This Fall Will Be to Reduce Congressional Majority; to Adjourn Soon

"It is not the belief of outsiders that progressivism in Wisconsin received a set-back in the recent primaries."

This was the statement today of Congressman Sydney Anderson, representing the First Minnesota district, who passed through here from Washington on his way to his home at Lanesboro.

"Those who believe in the progressive idea in the nation watched with unusual interest the results here in Wisconsin," said Mr. Anderson, "and it is needless to say that they were grieved at the result. Still, a perusal of the returns and averaging up the count shows that a majority of the people are still progressive."

Congressman Anderson believes that congress will adjourn soon.

He also believes that the democratic majority in congress has done sufficient harm to result in a substantial reduction of its majority this fall.

President Wilson, he believes, as a personal candidate, is strong. His personal ability, his calm and judicious handling of the Mexican and other trying situations has made him unusually popular with the people, believes Anderson.

While here Congressman Anderson visited Lieut. Governor Morris, State Senator Otto Bossard, John E. McConnell and others.

OUTCOME OF WAR DEPENDS ON THE N BATTLE OF CRACOW

number all others. But whether the troops are to have the energetic direction of competent officers or are to be handled by blunderers as in the Russo-Japanese war, this battle must decide.

Germany Masses Defense

To England, therefore, the battle of Cracow will be considered of far greater importance than the long drawn out conflict now in progress in France. If the Russians can overwhelm the combined Austro-German army, the way will be open for an overwhelming advance on Berlin. Germany has massed the flower of her southern armies here. Every man from France that could be spared has been sent to the east. The great central fortresses have been robbed of their guards, who have been replaced by landsturm. The flower of the landwehr also has been called to make an impregnable battle line. The Kaiser, himself is in supreme command of the movements, aided by chief of Staff Von Moltke and the council of field Marshal Von der Goltz, who originated the secret defenses along the Russian frontier, has been sought.

Every bit of information received here shows that Germany hopes decisively to defeat Russia. A decisive defeat of the Czar's forces, it is believed in Berlin might result in at least a partial patching up of the differences between Russia and Germany as the czar would certainly favor a revolution at home if his army were to be overwhelmingly defeated.

There is no disguising therefore, the interest with which the British military experts are following the present battle. The battle line will be far the longest ever held in history. Figured on the map in its wavering outline, it extends fully 800 miles from north of the Niemen river to the Carpathian mountains.

feared my mind would be lost if I could not square myself with Uncle Sam. Added to the suffering of my guilty conscience, was a constant fear of the law.

"This morning, I could stand it no longer. I was told there was a recruiting station here, and I have come to give myself up."

Fredericks placed the man upon a train bound for Bremerton. He notified the authorities and Dorham will be watched until he reaches there.

He will have to stand court martial, and probably take a sentence in one of the navy prisons.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. SENTENCE BURGLAR TO PENITENTIARY

Half-breed Who Robbed Copeland Residence Sent to Waupun for Three Years by Brindley

POLICE HUNT HIS CONFEDERATES

Believe that He has Two "Pals" Who Escaped Following His Capture Here Yesterday

"If I had been in Chicago and turned over that much jewelry to the cops there I'd have been free now."

This was the statement of Harris yesterday to the police following his arrest and the recovery of the goods.

Harris maintained that in Chicago the crook who is willing to disclose the "swag" is permitted his liberty.

Placing himself upon the mercy of the court, George Harris, confessed burglar, who robbed Mrs. Alex Paul, at the Col. F. A. Copeland home, Fourteenth and Cass streets, of $1,500 worth of jewelry, was sentenced by Judge John Brindley in county court this morning to serve three years at hard labor in state's prison at Waupun.

Harris claims to be from Chicago. He gave his age as 19, but looks older. Upon being taken to court by the police, Harris entered a plea of guilty, and asked Judge Brindley to give him the easiest sentence possible.

The man is a halfbreed Mexican and negro. He told a short story in court of evil surroundings in Chicago. He said he had been raised in the "toughest" part of Chicago, and had been made to associate with semi-criminal people since his birth. Like many others, he offered the excuse that he "never had a chance."

Arrested Friday

Harris was arrested yesterday morning, following a sensational capture by Alderman Martin Rybold, and other citizens. He disclosed the place where he had dropped jewelry taken from the Paul home.

Harris has been accused of several attempts during the past week to enter homes.

Police are now looking for two confederates who they have been informed were working with Harris, and who escaped.

War Bulletins

VIENNA, via Rome, Oct. 3.—Because of the wild reports that have been circulated regarding "hundreds" of cases of Asiatic cholera in the dual empire the government today issued a statement announcing the exact facts. It is stated that there are fifty-eight cases in Galicia; one only in Moravia, and three in Silesia.

TOKIO, Oct. 3.—It was announced officially that the bombardment of the German positions at Kiau Chau by the Anglo-Japanese expeditions continues from both land and sea. The Japanese land lines are being slowly advanced. A second Japanese mine sweeper struck a mine off the coast and was sunk with the loss of four men drowned and nine wounded, who were rescued by an accompanying destroyer.

ROME, Oct. 3.—Copies of the North German Gazette received here say that sporadic cases of cholera have been reported at some points in Germany, but that extraordinary precautions have been taken to prevent an epidemic and that the authorities say they do not fear its spread.

VIENNA, via Rome, Oct. 3.—It is reported here that the emperor and the members of the cabinet have directed preparations made for the removal of the capital to some city further from the Austrian frontier. Should it become certain that the Russian invasion is directed toward Vienna, the capital will be rushed to a city already selected but whose location is withheld for the present.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 3.—Forty Germans and Austrians are now imprisoned at Fort Osborne barracks in this city. Eleven more arrived last night, having been picked up at various settlements by Northwestern mounted police, charging with inciting—and other treasonable acts. (Censored.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—State department officials declared emphatically today that the stage of diplomatic negotiations with Great Britain over seizure of contraband and conditional contraband of war had not yet reached that of formal protest.

It is the presence of so many veterans on the German right that is responsible for the long continued fighting. They are trying to divide the allied armies so that the armies operating with Arras and Amiens as bases can be isolated and destroyed. This operation will prove unsuccessful, in the opinion of the military experts here.

WOULD BREAK WILL

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—Suit to break the will of the late James Campbell, multi-millionaire railroad and public utilities magnate, disposing of an estate estimated under present market conditions to be worth $16,000,000, was started here today in the circuit court by Cincinnati and Chicago nephews and nieces of Campbell. St. Louis university eventually was to receive the estate under the will.

Campbell, it is alleged, was subjected to "undue influence" in the making of the will. It is also charged that the university, which the will directs shall receive the estate after the death of Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Burkham, is incompetent to receive the bequest under its charter.

The "Schuiling Rupture Lock"

A wonderful, modern, up-to-date invention for Rupture Has cured many apparently hopeless cases

SENT YOU ON 30 DAYS TRIAL

30 DAYS IS THE TRIAL PERIOD

That's the way you want to try our Rupture Lock. A few days' trial can never bring out the merits of an article. We insist on a 30 day trial. Then you will appreciate what a perfect Rupture Lock is. It is not a device that must be worn, as it does not prove all we claim, after giving it the required test, it will not cost you a cent.

Away With Never-Holding, Cumber-some, Out-of-Date Trusses

A wonderful scientific Rupture Lock has taken the place of the old-fashioned health destroying truss. No more unsanitary leg straps, cruel springs, gouging pads, or elastic sweat harnesses. It must be joyful news to know that you can do away with harmful devices that should have no place in the enlightened 20th century, and put on the perfect holding, comfortable, easy-to-wear Schuiling Rupture Lock, that is daily relieving and curing rupture sufferers in every part of our country.

The Schuiling Rupture Lock is the outcome of years of study, hard work and diligent research. It is away from the old lines of truss construction, and holds the bowel in the abdomen (where it belongs) with a firm, steady and soothing pressure, such as Nature requires.

The Real Secret of Healing Rupture To successfully cooperate with Nature in the work of healing, the supporting device must be so constructed that the rupture retaining part overlaps and draws together the breached opening instead of pressing directly into it.

The trusses of today are sadly lacking in this quality. They nearly all give that direct pressure into the opening, which can not help but enlarge it, making it that much harder to retain the bowel later on, resulting in uncontrollable rupture with serious complications.

The Schuiling Rupture Lock was invented to overcome just such faults. It is made to comply with Nature's laws and reach the objective point by the safest and shortest possible route. This is the Rupture Lock that you get on a 30 Day Trial.

WOULD ELIMINATE ALL POLITICS

Sorensen Says Delegates Were Unit in Declaring for Non-partisan City Administrations

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen returned this morning from Milwaukee where he attended the annual convention of the League of American Municipalities.

Officers were elected as follows: President, John J. Ryder, Omaha; first vice president, H. A. LaPointe, Montreal; second vice president, G. A. Bading, Milwaukee; third vice president, P. C. O'Brien, Newark, N. J.; fourth vice president, Martin Behrman, New Orleans; secretary, Robert E. Lee, Baltimore; honorary secretary, Charles J. Brown, Winnipeg; treasurer, Charles J. Steiss, Fort Wayne.

Indorse Cotton Buying
"Resolutions indorsing the establishment of municipal research bureaus and the 'buy a bale of cotton movement' were adopted," said Mayor Sorensen.

"Elimination of politics from city administration was one of the points strongly urged by H. R. Sands of the New York Bureau of Municipal Research. He discussed the work of the bureau in New York and similar bureaus in other cities.

"Mayor S. A. Carlson, Jamestown, N. Y., advocated municipal supply and distribution of milk. He declared that the municipality could save fully 75 per cent of the cost of distribution," said Sorensen.

In the afternoon the delegates were taken on an auto drive over the city. Last night the delegates and many city officials and business men were guests of the Schlitz Brewing company at a "bierabend" at the palm garden. During the serving of the lunch an entertainment by soloists and the two orchestras was given.

CUT SALARIES OF THE HIGHER PAID

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 3.—For the first time two big companies in the Pittsburgh industrial territory are today retrenching at the expense of their better paid employees. Those trying the plan are the Pittsburgh Coal company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

In the case of the Pittsburgh Coal company, those drawing $100 per month or over are subject to the cut. The Westinghouse concern did not make public the minimum salary affected, but made it plain that the order does not touch the laborers or shop workers. Ten per cent and eight per cent are the respective reductions.

The two teams are about evenly matched and good snappy games will be the result.

The first team was only given a short signal practice last night in preparation for today's game.

He then visited a French millinery shop on Michigan boulevard, selected three $100 hats and fled with them without paying. This is the meeting for election of officers. All pastors and resident ministers, Y. M. C. A. general secretaries and superintendents of gospel missions are entitled to membership in this union and are invited to come and participate.

CHURCH NEWS

Peace Plans Being Formulated Here

According to the reports coming from church sources Andrew Carnegie is more interested in peace than ever, and more convinced that the churches can accomplish it more certainly than some other agencies. There has just arrived here J. Allen Baker, the famous Quaker member of the English parliament, who has been made chairman of a Continuation Committee of the recent Constance Peace Conference that was broken up by the war. Mr. Baker is assisting in the forming of a committee of sixty representative men, chiefly ministers, who are to push on larger plans for peace immediately the European soldiers cease their gunnery.

There have been named thus far ten English and ten American members of the new committee of sixty, and the others are to be named from Germany, China, Japan, France and other countries as soon as war conditions warrant. The Americans thus far chosen include President Shailer Matthews of the Federal Council, Bishop Hendrix of the Methodist church, south, Dr. John R. Mott, and President Clark of Christian Endeavor. So hopeful are these church peace leaders that the war will end that they are already fixing a date in London next summer for a meeting intended to bring into existence a World Alliance of Churches for International Good Will.

European mails being interfered with nothing is now doing there in the way of churches and peace, but throughout all the rest of the world committees are forming and active plans for peace are making. There is no disposition to propose peace to the European armed camps, but the moment there is a cessation of hostilities church peace workers purpose to be on the spot to further permanency of the movement, and to take up the education of the people. The strike is to be made to reach people that armaments are failures and useless and worse. Peace plans were never so active as today.

May Provide Another "First Aid" Car.

The American Red Cross, the Railroad Y. M. C. A. and the Hospital and safety committees of railroads, which have operated for a short time a First Aid car over their lines, are preparing to add to the service and system, and as soon as it is needed, to provide a second car. The present car was given by the Pullman company to the Red Cross. It contains a complete equipment for First Aid instruction and is prepared to assist in rescue work after great disasters. It contains living quarters for the staff and storage rooms for equipment. Besides it has an assembly room that is twenty-six feet long, used for class purposes, or readily converted into an emergency hospital.

Railroad Associations of course operate where such buildings exist. The car is just now touring Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana and Missouri over the Missouri Pacific line. Railroad companies haul the car without charge, of course, and urge their employees to take advantage of its coming to take the instruction. It is pointed out that this instruction is valuable not alone to railroad employees but to the traveling public. Association Authorities direct their secretaries to co-operate locally, whenever the car reaches their respective cities and have instruction given men in the local Y. M. C. A. buildings. Follow up work is carried on after the car has gone.

Missionary Association to Report on Nine Races

The American Missionary Association, working for dependent people under the American flag, as the Indians, the Eskimos, the Hawaiians, the Negroes and others, and supported chiefly by Congregationalists, holds its annual meeting in Providence October 20 and 23. No fewer than nine races, including those just mentioned and others, will be reported on there, some of them represented by their own speakers. Among others will be Hindus from the Pacific coast, where there has just been built by them a new Brahmin temple.

The building also of a Thornton Memorial Chapel for Esquimaux will be reported; a memorial of a young Virginian who gave his life to Christian work in the far north. President King of Oberlin, Chairman Warner of the International Y. M. C. A. and Bishop Bratton of Mississippi will be among the speakers. The last named, head of the Episcopal church in the state named, will appeal for more co-operation by Christians of the North in the handling of Negro problems throughout the south.

Financially the Association is hit in common with others, by the war and lack of concern by the people for anything save war and its fortunes. Last year the Association's receipts amounted to $559,000, and it has hopes of securing a like sum this year. To date, however, there are still some thousands lacking.

General Missions Have Big Deficit.

Episcopal church general missions report the unprecedented deficiency of $254,000. But the report hastens to say that the shortage is covered by reserve funds held for just such emergency, and that banks are not depended on. There was carried over from the previous year a deficiency of $197,000, and the year just ended with August adds $57,000 more. The explanation is given that the sole reason for these deficiencies growing year by year, is growth of work, and its consequent added cost. Appropriations for last year were $260,000 in excess of the previous year. The society reports receipts last year $47,000 beyond the year before, the sum coming from churches, Sun-

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Finds Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa. "I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have pains if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and do all I can to recommend it."—Mrs. A. B. BOSCAM, 504 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

Tons of Roots and Herbs are used annually in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is known from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

day schools where the children made Lenten offerings, and the women. More was received from interest by $10,000 than the preceding year. The total receipts amounted to $1,269,000. This sum is for both home and foreign work, but is a marked growth within the past few years. Fifteen years ago the receipts were under $100,000.

INDICT SLAYER OF SON-IN-LAW

NYACK, N. Y., Oct. 3.—An indictment for murder in the first degree was returned yesterday by the Rockland county grand jury against William V. Cleary, former clerk of Haverstraw, and a well known democratic politician. Cleary shot and killed his son-in-law, Eugene Newman, when the young man told him that he and Miss Cleary had been married.

Prayer Day Peace Hymn

God of the nations, near and far,
Ruler of all mankind,
Bless Thou Thy people as they strive
The paths of peace to find.

The clash of arms still shakes the sky,
King battles still with king,
Wild through the frightened air of night
The bloody tocsins ring.

But clearer far the friendly speech
Of scientists and seers,
The wise debate of statesmen and
The shout of pioneers.

And stronger far the clasped hands
Of labor's teeming throngs,
Who in a hundred tongues repeat
Their common creeds and songs.

O Father: from the curse of war
We pray Thee give release,
And speed, O speed the blessed day
Of justice, love and peace.

—Rev. John Haynes Holmes.

Wit of Sages, Folly of Clown,

Not to Be Trusted "What's yours?" "Coffee and rolls, my girl." One of those iron-heavy, quarter-inch thick mugs of coffee was pushed over the counter. The fastidious person seemed dazed. He looked under the mug and over it. "But where is the saucer?" he inquired. "We don't give no saucers here. If we did some low-brow'd come pilin' in an' drink out of his saucer, an' we'd lose a lot of our swellest trade."—Savannah News.

Goods Returned

Once an old dorky visited a doctor and was given definite instructions as to what he should do. Shaking his head, he started to leave the office, when the doctor said: "Here, Rastus, you forgot to pay me." "Pay yo' for what, boss?" "For my advice," replied the doctor. "Now, suh; naw, suh, I ain't gwine take it," and Rastus shuffled out.—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

The Friday Smell

Our contributor's small friend, little Rollo, aged 5, had always observed that fish was the big dish at his home on Friday. And he had observed that the rule held in the neighboring households. Recently little Rollo was sent out to visit his grandma in the country. After a day or two he missed something. "Grandma," said he, "ain't it ever Friday in the country?" "What a question!" she laughed. "Of course it is. Today is Friday, dear."

"Well," said Rollo. "It don't smell like Friday."

BENEZET WANTS OUTSIDE FORCE

Supt. Benezet Says Not More Than One-third of Teachers Should Be La Crosse Girls

Not more than one-third of the teaching force of the public schools should be composed of La Crosse people, is the opinion of Superintendent L. P. Benezet, in his annual report to the board of education. It is the opinion of the superintendent that new blood is needed in the schools of La Crosse. He believes that higher salaries will have to be paid teachers from outside La Crosse, or local girls will have to accept less in order that they may stay at home.

Superintendent Benezet said he felt this year that La Crosse had a better corps of teachers and principals than at any time previous. He referred to the deaths of Mr. Donaldson and Mrs. Fowler while speaking of the manner in which the teaching corps has remained intact for several years. He spoke of their loss as a calamity to the school system. Superintendent Benezet also spoke of the retirement of Albert Hardy as a great loss.

8,500 Attendance

According to figures prepared by Superintendent Benezet the school attendance in La Crosse is over eight and a half thousand.

The report showed that $485 is being spent for the schools per each 100 inhabitants. Expenses for the year past per 100 will amount to $521.

There has been a surprising increase in the number graduating from the high school. Nine years ago, only twenty-one out of every 100 entered high school from the grades and of these, but four graduated. Seventy-eight successfully completed the course there last year.

U. S. TROOPS TO STAY AT VERA CRUZ

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Definite postponement of the evacuation of Vera Cruz until October 11 at the earliest, was announced by the war department. There is believed little likelihood that the troops will leave then, on account of the disturbed conditions in the interior of Mexico.

While constitutionalist agents here have expressed their confidence in a peaceful healing of the rupture between Carranza and Villa, the state department officials are led to believe by their dispatches from Mexico that Carranza has no intention of stepping quietly down and making way for Villa.

FREE PETRAS OF MURDER CHARGE

GENEVA, Ill., Oct. 3.—Anthony Petras was Friday found not guilty of the murder of Theresa Hollander, his fiancée, who was clubbed to death in a graveyard at Aurora on the night of Feb. 16, 1914.

The jury reached a verdict after deliberating all night.

Mrs. Petras threw her arms about her husband and wept hysterically when the verdict was read.

In a Perfume Factory.

Musk is perhaps the most valuable and delightful of all perfumes, yet the refiner as he opens the musk pods must wear thick cloths over mouth and nostrils, so repulsive is the odor that the pods emit. Indeed, this odor, inhaled for any length of time, causes nosebleed. Civet, karagullue and ambergris have in small quantities a delicious perfume, but in large quantities they smell so abominable as to give the worker nausea. The hawthorn blossom is delicately sweet, and perfumers prize it highly, yet a roomful of hawthorn blossoms smells like a charnel house. This, too, is true of the tuberoses.

THE LOVING WORD.

Did you hear the loving word?
Pass it on.
Like the singing of a bird?
Pass it on.
Let its music live and grow;
Let it cheer another's woe.
You have reaped what others sow.
Pass it on.—Henry Burton.

LAWRENCE OPENS BADGER SEASON

Cardinals Clash with Lawrence in First Game of Season at Camp Randall

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 3.—Wisconsin opened its 1914 football schedule at Camp Randall this afternoon with a match with Lawrence college. The Badgers took their final workout at the camp yesterday afternoon when Coach Juneau put them through a high signal drill. The Badger squad is in the very best of condition, without a single player on the hospital list, as a result of the two weeks' grind of preliminary work.

Besides being the first test of Wisconsin's gridiron strength, today's contest will be of interest to followers of football as it offers the first opportunity to see how the new rules will work in actual play. Some seem to think that the penalty for an incomplete pass will do away with a great deal of the open football of last year. If this is the case the advantage will be in favor of the Cardinals for they will outweigh their opponents considerably.

All are agreed that the Badger strength will lie in the line. With Keeler, Buck, McMaster, Schmidt and Kennedy holding down the line jobs, Wisconsin will probably have a line this year which will hold its own with any team in the conference.

The La Crosse Eagles, city champions, left this morning for Caledonia, Minn., where they will clash with the ball tossers there at the Houston county fair.

WESTERN FOOTBALL SEASON ON TODAY

Chicago and Indiana Play First Conference Game of Year at Stag Field

MICHIGAN CLASHES WITH CASE

Yale Predicts Easy Victory Over Virginia; Tigers in Hard Game with Bucknell

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—The western conference football season opened here today with Chicago and Indiana universities clashing at Stag field under splendid weather conditions. A heavy Maroon eleven, with a good sprinkling of veterans, was expected to have little trouble with the Hoosiers.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 3.—Maurice Dunne, son of Governor Dunne of Illinois, was slated to play left end for Michigan in this afternoon's game with Case, Dunne's showing in the De Pauw game caused Coach Yost to announce the shift today.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 3.—Old Eli's supporters are predicting an easy victory this afternoon over Virginia. Practically the same lineup that crushed Maine last Saturday is expected to take the field against the southerners.

Jack Wiley, center, is suffering from a lame knee and Miller may have his place. Harry Wiser, the best line plugging back the "Blue" squad has, was declared ineligible to play this season by the faculty.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 3.—With the members of the team all tested after their hard drilling, the early part of the week, Harvard expected to have an easy time with the Springfield training school squad this afternoon.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 3.—The Tigers were out for revenge today and when they clash with Bucknell an unusually tough struggle for this early in the season is looked for. Bucknell scored on Princeton last year.

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 3.—Warner intends to take stock of his possessions this afternoon when Carlisle clashes with Lehigh at South Bethlehem. Looks Around will be moved to fullback, Martell, a new man, taking his place in the line.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Although two of the regulars—Captain Ahearn at end and Cooley at center—will be missing from the lineup, Cornell expects to trample on Colgate here this afternoon.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Connie Mack probably received a rush telegram today from his scouts following the fortunes of the Boston Braves, stating that Handsome Hank Gowdy has only a very hazy idea of the exact location of second and third base on a ball field. The telegram also probably suggested that all Philadelphia say nothing to Hank so that he might continue to labor under the delusion that these stations are located somewhere out in the grass near the fence.

In addition to the uncertainty of Gowdy as to whether base runners were taking strolls in the outfield or sticking to the barren paths, and making his throws accordingly, the Braves also showed evidence of suffering from Everitt, or the lack of it. Johnny took an afternoon off. Possibly the Braves simply felt called upon to get some weird stuff out of their systems after their long run of sterling performances, and the absence of Evers had nothing to do with it. But they piled up seven errors and the infield lacked the poise it shows when Johnny is cavorting at his station.

The Giants needed that game yesterday to keep some sort of a hold on second place, as the Cardinals turned up another victory in their clash with the Cubs and would have been only a half game back of the Giants had the latter tripped over another bat.

Today Stallings will send his charges into a double header with the Giants. The double bill was brought on by the tie of Thursday and only Mne. De Thebes or some other such personage may venture a prediction of what may happen. The chances are, however, that most of it will not happen to the Braves.

MUCH INTEREST IN LOCAL GAME

Boy Scouts and Students Form Big Parade Through Downtown Streets Before Game

Not in years has enthusiasm before the first football game of the season been so high as it was this afternoon when a monster parade composed of boy scouts and high school students paraded the downtown streets between two and three o'clock, later marching in a body to League park, where the local high school clashed with Lanesboro, Minn., high school, one of the strongest teams in southern Minnesota and old rivals of the local high school.

The Minnesotans last year held the La Crosse men to a tie and came to La Crosse today bent on repeating the performance if not bettering it. A goodly number of rooters accompanied the team here.

High school students turned out in mid-season form to root for their men. Scores of boys and girls from the public schools took advantage of the season tickets issued them and attended strong.

Coach Horne sent his proteges through an hour of stiff work last night, aiming to correct every possible fault before the first game of the year. The regulars hooked up with the scrubs in a four period game of ten minute quarters and showed up well.

STICKLE PLACED IN FINAL MATCH

Stickle won a place in the semifinals of the county tennis tournament yesterday afternoon by defeating Schulze in straight sets, 6-1 and 6-2. Lewis won over Hankerson in two sets, 6-4 and 6-4.
The finals will not be played off until sometime next week, although it was planned by the committee to finish the tourney this week. Several entrants have been unable to play.

It Never Rains But It Pours

is true of the bills that pour in when your pay envelope stops because you are disabled. The butcher, the grocer, the landlord, the clothier, all want their money and you need it for doctors' bills and medicine. Of course, you may not expect accident or sickness at present; but it is prudent to be prepared for what may come by taking a little each week from your income and depositing it to your savings account at our bank. Decide to do it on your next pay day.
